School for Young Children
Saint Joseph College

Recently featured in the Hartford Courant and hailed as “a perfect fit” for the town of West Hartford, the school has just completed its’ first academic year and has come through with flying colors and glowing reviews. Meehan & Goodin is proud to have been associated with this vital and important project.

Before: Beach Park School building as it appeared in 1998

After: No effort was spared to retain existing trees and features.

After Hours...
Gone Fishin’

School is out for the summer and kids of all ages are hitting their favorite fishing spots. Here’s our bookkeeper Darlene Martin’s son Robert Hubbard and fiancé’s daughter Ashley Sue Morell showing off the results of a successful opening day of fishing.

The Past Meets
The Future

The need to preserve our landmarks and architectural heritage need not always conflict with progress and innovation. When Saint Joseph College in West Hartford sought to renovate the former Beach Park School for use by their renowned School for Young Children, they turned to The S/L/A/M Collaborative to design an early education teaching facility.

The administration recognized the importance of retaining the natural charm and historical significance of the then deserted building while providing their students and the educational community with a modern state-of-the-art facility designed to keep pace with current and future technological and program advances.
